TOURIST INFO

Two years ago this month, our front page lead story was the closure of the Saltaire Tourist Information and Gift Centre at 2, Victoria Road. Now we have learned of a new plan for a 'TIC' in the old Mill dining hall, next to the station – which is unlikely to open before 2010. Councillor Martin Love has asked for the issue to be placed on the agenda for the next Saltaire Project Team meeting. Roger Clarke has been investigating.

See page two >>>

For the second year running, Saltaire will have its own community Christmas tree, in the grounds of the Victoria Hall, the illumination of which will be a grand public spectacle.

The Grand Switch On will be on Saturday 6th at 4.30pm. Maria Glot will be switching on the lights and Bradford Festival Choral Society will lead the carol singing, accompanied by the Gawthorpe Brass Band. There will be free mulled wine and mince pies served afterwards.

OPPORTUNITY

"The event provides a great opportunity for everyone to come together in celebrating the beginning of the festive season in true Saltaire style", says David Worsley, who has once again been hard at work for some time now bringing his idea to fruition.

Over the weekend of the 6th and 7th, the Hall will host a Craft Fair, featuring nineteen stalls of crafts and gifts as well as demonstrations by several of the participants. Organiser David Harrison, who hopes to be showing his own skills in leather carving, told us:

"We have been working with the Christmas Tree Committee to arrange the times of the Grand Switch On of the lights by way of arranging to keep the Gawthorpe Brass Band to play at the event."

MUSIC

Music will be provided throughout the day by Ian Beddow on guitar and keyboards, as well as by the brass band who will play a variety of music, including carols.

FOLLOWING CALENDAR MADE EASY

Locating the twenty-four properties which, from the first of the month, will be taking part in the Living Advent Calendar, will be easier than ever before this year. Maps showing the locations of all the windows involved will be available all round the Village, and the Calendar now has its own website, which will help to keep track of the progress of the windows as they open.

TOURIST INFO SHORTFALL

Well known tour guide Roger Clarke shares his thoughts on the provision of World Heritage Tourist Information

The recent closure of the Shipley Information Centre on Wellcroft, next to the Library, dealt a blow to tourist information in the district. Limited information can still be obtained from Shipley Town Hall where Reception staff try their best to be helpful, but it is now only concerned with access to Council services and for benefits such as Passport to Leisure applications and Blue Badge registration for the disabled. There is an area in the entrance where leaflets are on display. It is nothing like the comprehensive service which was formerly offered in the much more centrally located Wellcroft. Meanwhile, in Saltaire there is still no sign of developments to set up a Tourist Information Centre (TIC) to assist the thousands of visitors who come to the Mill and village each year. Providing information for visitors on site is such an obvious basic requirement in promoting tourism that it is difficult to see how any planner would miss it, but Bradford Council has significantly failed to give it any sort of priority or urgency over the past 10 years or more.

Roger and Anne Heald ran the Information and Gift Centre at Number 2, Victoria Road from 1993 to January, 2007, filling the gap in provision which the Local Authority failed to fill, but they have now closed this shop. There is currently only a small leaflet display in Victoria Hall, well away from the main tourist footfall in the Mill, and totally inadequate to meet visitor needs.

There are now plans to open a TIC in the old Mill Dining Hall, on Victoria Road, immediately next to Saltaire railway station. The building is part of Shipley College. This would be an ideal location, and it is encouraging to find that the Council and the College are working together to plan to develop the site. Funding seems to be the problem. Craig McHugh, World Heritage Site Officer, and Councillor Martin Love have been helpful, as always, in outlining the current state of negotiations, but the picture remains frustratingly bleak. It seems unlikely that there will be any improvement in the actual provision, on the ground, of local information for tourists or residents in 2009. Patricia Tillotson, Visitor Economy Manager with the Commercial and Support Services Department of the Council says that Shipley College is in the final stages of its bid to fund a £15 million project in which a TIC in the Shipley College Mill building would be a part. If the bid is successful, the TIC would be in the first phase of work, and building work could commence in summer, 2009. Assuming the most optimistic view of progress, on this timescale, visitors will still be without anywhere to take their enquiries until 2010. In the interim, local shopkeepers and staff at the Mill answer questions from tourists as best they can, but there is nothing to equal what Roger and Anne Heald used to provide, or what other centres such as Bradford, Haworth, Skipton and Ilkley have enjoyed for many years. As a temporary solution, it would be good to find the Council and College thinking creatively to work more closely with the private sector in the area, such as the Mill, to resolve the immediate shortfall. There is an enormous amount of goodwill towards Saltaire from local businesses which are proud to be based here, and their regular sponsorship of events and projects are a testimony to this. Saltaire has been a World Heritage Site since 2001. It is doubtful that you would find another Heritage Site anywhere in the world where the needs of tourists and visitors have been so neglected and ignored.

ISIS PROJECT PARTY

in need of gifts
Organisers of the Isis
Project, on Farfield Road, Shipley, are looking for gifts for their Christmas Children's Party.

Isis provides an essential service to women from all over the district suffering from varying degree of mental distress, including post-natal depression, who have been referred to the centre by their doctor or health visitor. One in three people will suffer from mental illness at one time in their lives and it is the aim of the Isis Project to help women survive the trauma of mental distress by providing time and space within a safe and nurturing environment, so that healing and recovery can take place. Via a wide range of group activities, the users of the centre are encouraged to build confidence and self esteem, and to realise they are not alone and that there are many other women
experiencing similar feelings
and difficulties. The centre, which opens from 9am to 4.30pm, is unique as it provides an OFSTED inspected free crèche catering for children up to the age of five.

As Christmas is coming and our houses will be filled with more and more presents, it seems an opportune moment to pass on to an extremely worthwhile cause those toys
and games that might be tucked away in a corner or hidden at the bottom of the toy box. You can be assured that they will be greatly appreciated by the staff at the Isis Project and the women who use the centre.

You can contact the centre on

PARKING PROBLEMS AT ALMSHOUSES

In February we reported on problems with car parking at the almshouses at the top of Victoria Road, arising largely from the conflict between the needs of the current population and the need to conserve the past. Shipley Community Housing Trust (Incommunities) and the Conservation Department of the Council had a difficult problem to balance the needs of the residents with the requirements of Saltaire as a World Heritage Site. An inconclusive meeting in November, 2007, has been followed by further information gathering from residents. They were asked to complete a questionnaire to identify the most needy in terms of access to their cars. The Conservation Department stated that they will look at the possibility of disabled parking bays for residents with a need i.e. disabled badge holders. Given that there is too much demand for limited resources, the Council should be complimented in its open and transparent approach to the problem. There may yet be other ways to satisfy demand, and the Council have accepted that in the interim visitors can still use the access path to pick up and set down when required.

AWARD FOR LOCAL BUSES

Many people in Saltaire find the local public transport very good, writes Rav Wilkes. We have a modern rail service with good bus services by First Bradford and Keighley & District Travel along Gordon Terrace. If you have not yet sampled the luxury leather seated 662 service maybe the following will tempt you. Keighley & District Travel, operator of the Bradford Keighley 662 and the Leeds Keighley 760, was recently named 'City Operator of The Year 2008' at prestigious awards held in London, following scrutiny by independent judges, in recognition of passenger, revenue and profit growth whilst maintaining high levels of customer satisfaction and quality of operation generally. Further investment coupled with strong marketing activity has significantly grown passenger journeys on targeted primary services and the company's management style and culture has ensured a stable workforce which has been well supported and further developed throughout the year. The UK Bus Awards Scheme is designed to recognise and reward excellence and good practice in a wide range of disciplines associated with the operation, design and promotion of bus services. Over the past twelve years, UK Bus Awards nominees have provided excellent examples of quality and innovation. Nigel Eggleton, Transdev Blazefield's Director of Business Development, said; 'We're delighted to have won this award, which is true recognition of the hard work and commitment put in by all our staff.' Further information about the award may be found on the www.ukbusawards.org.uk website. Bus info can be found by googling either bus company or by ringing Metro at 0113 245 7878 who will answer inquiries and mail timetables to your door.

HAPPY OUTCOME FOR LUCY

Following last month's story about Lucy Bauer, the teacher with fond, childhood memories of Saltaire who had been put in touch with Denys and Eva Salt through the Village Website, Dave Shaw tells us that Lucy has been in touch again with news that the Salts have visited GIBS, the school in Graz, Austria, where she now works. "Denys talked to the pupils who are working on the Industrial Revolution about Saltaire for one and a half hours. He was fabulous", says Lucy. This is just the latest in a succession of happy outcome stories instigated by the website and helped along by Dave.

LIBRARY BUS

The Library Bus arrives on Caroline Street a little after 6.30 pm every Wednesday, and stays for about half an hour near the junction with Albert Road. Anyone who is housebound can apply for a Home Delivery service. For information, ring 433669.

EXHIBITION

Curiouser and Curiouser – New British Graduates, the exhibition of intriguing jewellery collections, runs at the Kath Libbert Gallery in Salts Mill until January 30th.
